

Mobilizing the Arts for Community Connection + Change

Carmen Papalia. Blind Field Shuttle. 2012. Perceptual four dimensions variable. Photo courtesy of Jordan Reznick.

A ONE-DAY SUMMIT TO IGNITE OUR IMAGINATIONS October 22, 1pm-5pm, Museum of Vancouver

Featuring
Presentations
+ Workshops by:

Ayotzi 68
Corey Bulpitt
Alex Grünenfelder
Zoe Kreye
Carmen Papalia
Holly Schmidt

This one-day summit will explore art as a catalyst for sparking community imagination around belonging, trust, and social resiliency in urban centres.

Some of Vancouver's most dynamic artists and designers will share their ideas, projects, and initiatives in a series of rapid-fire presentations. Audience members will then take the lead in imagining how the arts can be used in interactive ways to advance these themes across Metro Vancouver through a series of workshops facilitated by the presenters.

The summit will wrap up with a peer-to-peer granting session, where some of those solutions and interventions could be funded up to $1500. The summit will help to share big imaginations and best practices for using art as a catalyst for making change in our communities.

Free Admission - Please Register To Attend: www.mobilizingthearts.ca